

OU Greeks Don Working Clothes For Help Week Project at Home

University of Omaha Greek organizations will concentrate their Help Week activities at the Martha T. Smith Home for the Aged. The home is located at 933 North 25 Street.

The sorority and fraternity members will begin their Help Week duties next Monday and continue through Friday. The banquet will be Friday night and dance, Saturday.

Private Bus

Donna Edstrand, Help Week committee member, announced that there will be a private bus to take Greeks to the home and bring them back to school. The schedule is as follows: Leaving from school at 8:15, 9:15, 10:15, 11:15, 12:15 and 1:30. The bus will leave the home bound for school at 9:30, 10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 1:40, and 5.

The bus will be boarded at the Student Center.

Ready for Work

Hugo Kahn advises all workers to wear "real working clothes," for painting, scrubbing, varnishing and waxing. He asks that each Greek bring some useful supplies such as paint brushes, sponges, rags, brooms and buckets. Each worker is to check in and out at the home. The committee urges each Greek to get in as much time as can be sacrificed.

The windows will be decorated in a typical Greek manner. Donna Edstrand is in charge of decorating. Assistant chairman is Lorene Shannon. Helping her are Jane Anderson, Mary Lenihan, Beth Fletcher, Connie Jacobson, Sharon Winner, Ed Oathout, Joyce Erdcamp, Elaine Jones, and Bob Gregory.

Parthenon in Window

The Bookstore window will be decorated with a replica of the Parthenon. On each pillar will be the name of a Greek organization on the University campus. The frieze will portray the social activities of the sororities and fraternities. The steps of the Parthenon will be designated as Community Service, Social Life, Unity, Self-Education, and School Activities.

Radio Production Class to Perform

The radio department's advanced production class has reached the big time. The class is producing a series of six dramatic shows to be broadcast over a local radio station.

"Procurator of Judea" will be the first of the one-half hour shows. The program is scheduled to be recorded tomorrow by the department and broadcast sometime next week. Student director for the show is Harold Winslow.

The cast for the first show is Dick Palmquist, Pontius Pilate; Cliff Soubier, Lulus Lamia; Phil Abramson, Priest; George King, narrator; Don Blocker, Captain; Georgianna Walton, Pontia.

Others are Dick May, Vittelius; Gary Anderson, Magistrate; Bob Dain, Driver; Bob Dvorak, Servant; John Soubier, Messenger, and Rod Ross, Caius.

The second program scheduled is "Apartment 307." It is a satire on detective work.

ROTC Promotes Cadets, Noncoms

The promotion of 13 cadet AF ROTC officers and 14 non-commissioned officers has been announced by acting Commandant of Cadets Maj. Jack Burnett.

The new cadet majors are Jack Katz, James Wright, and John Howard. Cadet captains will be Merlyn Pratt and Bob Guide.

Cadets promoted to first lieutenants are Dick Danielson, Robert Driscoll, Dan Langevin, Jack Frost, Robert Moscrey, Duane Post, Harold Sage, and Jerry Ziehe.

New non-commissioned officers include M. Sgt. Larry Peters, T. Sgt. Jerry Norene, Kenneth Ford, and Mel Rousek. Sergeants are Paul Hoff and James Lohr.

Corporals are Clayton Bowe, Chris Crowder, James Hill, and Clarence Sage. Others are Charles Schetzer, James Shainholtz, Thomas Tingley and Tom Romberg.

YMCA Sponsors New Courses Downtown as "Design For Living"

A new series of informal adult evening courses, especially designed for men and women who work downtown, will start next week under the auspices of the YMCA.

Under the title, DESIGN FOR LIVING, 30 different subjects will be offered in real-life problems such as: "Psychology and You," "Effective Public Speaking," and "Learning to Dance."

Of particular interest in the hobby line are such courses as "Ceramics," "Square Dancing for Beginners," and "Crafts Unlimited."

DESIGN FOR LIVING enrolled about 400 Omaha adults last year in its various classes. Recent enrollments showed people from Plattsmouth, Bellevue, Blair, Wahoo, Valley and Ralston.

All courses meet one evening a week for an 8-week term from 7:30 to 9:00 p. m. or from 8:00 to 9:30 p. m. Classes meet at the Central YMCA, 17th and Harney; South Omaha YMCA, 4827 South 24th Street; and North Omaha YMCA, 6330 North 30th. A folder is mailed on request by calling ATlantic 1600.

Vocations Week Spotlights Home Economics Careers

The new courses in Home Economics will be the center of the Vocations Week discussions and exhibits next week in Room 209. The activities will take place Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Weaving will be demonstrated Tuesday at 1 p. m. William O. Nelson, promoter of the Omaha Weavers Guild, will show the "Fascination of Weaving" on his table loom. Nelson will explain the difference in yarns, mixing colors, and how to achieve different textures in the weave. He is now making altar linens to order, which have been sent to 13 different states.

New Fibers

"New Fibers, New Fabrics" will be the topic of discussion on Wednesday morning from 10 to 12. Miss Larson from Kilpatrick's will discuss the new materials and the effects gained from them in dress-making and other sewing. A film, "Facts About Fabrics," will be shown. Jean Salladay will introduce Miss Larson. Barbara Day, Jane Pawoll, and Marian Walker are hostesses.

Home Ec—Journalism

Frank Broadwell will demonstrate the new combination of Home Ec and Journalism, Thursday at 9 a. m. His topic will be "Photographing Foods for National

Band Presents Pop Concert Adkins, Dain, Schwid Solo

The University Concert Band will present a Pop Concert in the auditorium at 9:30 a. m. Classes will follow the regular shortened periods.

The program will open with a paraphrase entitled "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," featuring Cecil Adkins on a baritone horn solo. The second selection is "American Sailing Songs," a fantasy which includes such old sea songs as, "Hornet and the Peacock," "Lowlands," and "What Shall We Do With the Drunken Sailor?"

Robert Dain will be trumpet soloist in "The Debutante," a caprice.

Steve Schwid will play a trombone solo by Haydn-Byrnes called "Adagio from Concerto for Cello and Orchestra."

An arrangement of "South of the Rio" will include such South American melodies as, "The El Choclo Tango," "Ay, Ay, Ay," "Chianecas," in which the band will sing, and "La Cucaracha."

"A March for O U," written by Professor L. N. Garlough, will be played for the first time in public. Garlough's hobby is music; he plays the Recorder, an old English-German instrument, and has composed a choral selection for the University choir.

Dr. Robert W. Fiester, director, says that, "We have a few surprises, but we hope that the Friday the 13th date won't scare people away."

Players Postpone Spring Production

The University Players production of "The Mad Women of Chailot" has been postponed until April 10 and 11.

Dr. Edwin L. Clark, dramatics coach, said the reason for the change is that "the musical production and the spring dramatic production were scheduled too close together."

In addition to Broadwell's task, the Martha Logan of the South Omaha Swift Test Kitchen, Miss Maxine Anderson, will show how journalism works into the test kitchen at Swift.

Barbara Hazard will introduce Miss Anderson and Broadwell. Virginia Macoubrie and Joan Doyle will be hostesses.

Fibers Under Microscope

Magazine articles, pamphlets and leaflets will be on display in room 209 all three days. There will also be an exhibit of new textiles and synthetic fabrics under microscope.

The faculty, students, and public are invited to attend the Home Ec Vocations Week. Mrs. Nellie Jones of the Home Economics department is in charge of arrangements for the week's activity.

Stageman to Attend Chemistry Convention

Paul J. Stageman, professor of chemistry at the University, will attend the American Chemical Societies annual convention at Los Angeles next week.

In addition to representing the University, Stageman will serve as counselor for the Omaha section of the American Chemical Society.

Utley Appears On TV Series

Professor William T. Utley will make a return appearance on the University's TV Classroom series. The head of the history and government department will begin a six week television course on "The Washington Scene" on Monday.

The eighth in the series of television classes on Station KMTV will concern the machinery of the federal government in Washington. Mr. Utley's 15-minute class will be televised Monday through Friday at 3:30 p. m. Two college credits can be earned upon completion of the course.

Last summer, the government professor lectured on KMTV during the period of the national nominating conventions on "Political Parties and Elections."

inspection is to examine the training, both in classroom and on the drill field. Teaching procedures, instruction facilities and effectiveness of instructors, and general military bearing of cadets will be some of the points on which the unit will be graded.

Inspectors of the Omaha U. unit are Col. Lewis H. Kensing, Lt. Col. Donald C. Pricer, Maj. Edwin B. Tigner.

The cadets will have a review in the Fieldhouse during the inspection. During this time, a Purple Heart will be awarded to wounded veteran. If weather permits, the parade and presentation will be held outside.

The full ceremonial parade will be held Thursday, Apr. 23, at 4 p. m. Cadets will receive awards and decorations at the Retreat.

Notice!

The following Maie Day information must be turned in to the Dean of Students Office no later than 3 p. m. Mar. 27.

1. First and second choice of theme ideas for floats, including a drawing and general description.

2. Float chairman and telephone number.

In case of a duplication the first theme received will be eligible.

Nine College Debate Group Begin Tourney

Nine Nebraska colleges will participate in the Nebraska Intercollegiate Forensic Association debate tournament today and tomorrow at Omaha University.

It is the first time that the University has been host for the annual state championship debate and discussion tournament.

Teams participating in the debate programs from OU are Duane Post and Ted Romberg, Sharon Erdkamp and Jean Bednar, Ken Bauer and Edwin Bralley, Marie Jipp and Arliss Welch, and Robert Sherbondy and Bernice Larsen.

OU students entered in the discussion programs are Lew Radcliffe and Romberg, Welch and Mary Cosford, and Keith Williams.

The tournament will include debate, discussion, oratory and extemporaneous speaking contests.

Colleges and universities participating in the tournament are Creighton University, Doane College, Kearney State Teachers College, McCook College, Midland College, Nebraska Wesleyan University, Peru State Teachers College and Wayne State Teachers College.

Artists Will Judge Student Drawings, Crafts, Hobbies

Two representatives of the University of Nebraska art department and the supervisor of art in Lincoln high schools will be on campus Monday to judge the entries in the second annual All-High School Student Art Show.

The show will hang in the University halls with the three-dimensional works on display in cases. It is scheduled to open officially Wednesday with an Open House in the art department.

Entries in the show have been divided into eight classes, including pictorial arts, graphic arts, design, advertising art, three-dimensional art, crafts and hobbies. The entries are further divided into the junior group for the ninth and tenth graders and the senior group for the upperclassmen.

Dr. Edward Laging, Professor Peter Worth and Miss Alva MacFie are the contest judges.

Roving Reporter

The swiftness which the announcement of the sudden illness of Russia's Premier Joseph Stalin, and his subsequent death a few days later, has caught the world by surprise.

Russia's powerful dictator and probably one of the most powerful men in the world, has left the rest of the world in a state of uncertainty and dread.

The people of the Western World are trying to visualize the implications which will follow the death. It seems that everyone has an opinion about what will happen. Even experts on world affairs can only guess what will happen.

Implications of Death

A roving reporter wandered through the halls of OU asking students and faculty what implications they felt Stalin's death would have on the world situation.

The results were interesting and varied, with no two people having the same viewpoint. Many persons just smiled and cynically stated the death was "too bad."

Generally, most of the opinions were pessimistic rather than optimistic, with few persons seeing any hope of easing the tense world situation.

More Lax Attitude

Student Georgia Redfield stated that she thought the United States would become more lax toward Communism because she felt that Stalin was the supreme leader of Communism. She felt this attitude could lead to a dangerous situation.

Typical of the skeptical outlook was the comment by Mary Ann Conley. She said that she believed Communism was bigger than one man. Miss Conley stated that the death of Stalin will not change the world situation, adding that there will be someone else to take his place.

To Regret?

Roger Dunbar stated that Stalin was undoubtedly the most important man in the world and added that he hoped the Western World will not come to regret his death.

An equally morbid opinion was given by Fred Healea who felt that the death of Stalin was anticipated and that a government doesn't change overnight, at least when it is established as the Russian government is.

Death Anticipated

Susan Bivin stated that because of Stalin's advanced age, the Communist party has thought of ways to pass over his death. She felt that any trouble would not come from top Communist leaders who have been prepared for the death, but from the populace who must suddenly realize that their leader is gone.

Cautious Coed . . .

The Economics 212-night class has proven to be one of the least trusted classes on the school curriculum.

Just prior to shutting the lights off in Room 438, for a movie, Economics professor Roderic Crane asked if every one was ready for the movies.

A young coed in the second row, looking around and noticing that she was completely surrounded on all sides by male students, blurted out, "wait just a moment until I get a hold of my purse."

William Utley, government professor, stated that it was "open season on guessing." However, he added that no one on either side of the picture really knows what actually happened. Utley doesn't expect the situation to be any better. He stated that there may be a temporary period of indecision. There may be a temporary triumvirate of Beria, Malenkov and Molotov, but one leader would emerge as the Communist symbol and premier. . . . Ras.

College Students Talk Vote Right

Nebraska isn't the only state with legislature debate over the legal voting age.

Michigan state legislators are considering three separate bills which would lower the legal voting age anywhere from one to three years.

The Michigan State News, in an informal poll of the student body, has decided that "student opinion is split about equally" on the three measures.

Many of the students commented on the situation. One coed stated that "people are forcing more and more responsibility on 18-year-olds. I believe that most people, if they have the responsibility of voting will mature a lot faster."

Another stated that "to be frank, I don't think there are very many 21-year-olds who can vote intelligently. What point would there be to allowing 18-year-olds to vote?"

Adult Ed Course Takes Place of Brain Food

If you eat lots of celery and carrots for the improvement of your mentality and eyes, and you still have difficulty reading, the College of Adult Education has come up with another possible solution.

The college says if your reading habits need improving, or if you don't easily understand what you read or you don't read fast enough, it will solve all your problems in ten easy lessons.

The college is offering this semester a course in Reading Improvements for Adults. The classes are being held on Wednesday night at 6, 7, or 8 p. m. in room 178. The class gives students a complete diagnosis of their reading habits by use of special equipment and techniques.

According to the circular announcing the class, "good reading habits are a tool to help you live with more satisfaction and success in the kind of world we have."

"The endless stream of printed matter most adults encounter makes it necessary for the individual to know what to read with ease and understanding."

The circular concludes by stating that "You can read better than you do!"

Airmen Give Blood to Aid Sick Alumnus

An Omaha University student, with an assist from the AF-ROTC department, can be credited with saving the life of a former student.

A little over a month ago, Larry Fargher, an Air Force Compression student, received word that Jim Ross, former student, was in the hospital suffering from Hemophilia, a serious blood disease.

After hearing of Ross's plight, Fargher enlisted the aid of the ROTC instructors at OU. The instructors checked through the lists of physical examinations given to Air Force students last summer, and compiled a list of students who had "type O" positive blood, the type which Ross had to have.

Fargher contacted the students and enlisted seven students, including himself, to donate blood for transfusions to the ailing Ross.

The seven boys took the time out from heavy exam schedules to donate one pint of blood each at a local hospital.

Students contributing to the donation of blood included Eugene Gray, Bruce Mosley, Gilbert Davis, Dan Langevin, Dick McKee, Frank Schuchart and Fargher.

At last word, Ross remained in serious condition, but had shown some improvement.

Letters To The Editor

University students demonstrated a well-known fact last week. That fact is that they place entertainment and frivolity above thinking and knowledge.

Two excellent performances of a student musical comedy brought "Standing Room Only" crowds to the university auditorium. But lectures by men of intellectual integrity barely were attended by the student body.

A basketball game with an arch rival filled the Fieldhouse with 4,500 spectators.

Students in the past few weeks have had an equal opportunity and invitation to hear and talk with Nebraska's chief justice, a lecturer well versed in political relations and journalism and a member of the British parliament, thoroughly familiar with world affairs.

Yet, none of the men spoke to a full auditorium.

Less than one-fifth of the students heard a morning convocation which offered students material on the responsibility of citizenship and maturity. And less than two per cent—about 25 students—took advantage of any of three appearances on campus of a political journalist brought to the university by the Baxter Memorial Fund.

Truth of the matter is that the student body refuses to think, to be serious of matters of importance and to accept the responsibilities of a college education.

Teaching Majors Lack Mentality?

Students majoring in Education had better get on the ball!

Teachers' colleges—sometimes called education's stepchildren—are again under fire, according to the New York Times. The paper states that students preparing to be teachers did worse on the draft deferment test than any other group.

More than 400,000 students have taken the test.

Students in engineering, the physical sciences and mathematics were in top positions. Business and agriculture were just above education, at the bottom of the list.

On the oral part of the test, where education students would be expected to shine, the engineers were still first, the teachers still last.

The Times commented that "the educational world has reason to be greatly disturbed at the conclusion of the report. No matter how one looks at the data, the performance of the education group is conspicuously poor. The conclusion is inescapable that a large number of low-ability students are preparing to enter the teaching field."

On Every Campus

I am proud of the University of Omaha.

You can shout this from the cupola on the top of the Georgian building, because the University of Omaha is one of the finest educational institutions in the Midwest.

Why are we saying this? Because in cafeteria bull-sessions and in between class get-togethers in the Center, transfer students say deprecatingly, "they sure did things differently at Iowa," or "when I was at Nebraska."

And students who chose the University of Omaha simply shrug their shoulders and agree.

There are many reasons for attending the University of Omaha. The faculty is top quality, the student body is active and interested, the atmosphere is friendly, and there are no board and room fees for most of the students.

The only way we can go is up. Student Union and Library plans are getting past the blueprint stage. Perhaps in the future, there will be housing for Greek organizations.

All municipal universities struggle against two outside forces for attention—the home and the part-time job. Students leading triple lives cannot give everything to school activities, and school spirit suffers. But Omaha University has prospered even against these "odds."

Dissenters have no place on the University campus.

No excuses need to be given by those attending this University.

Irish Merriment Tuesday Honors Patron Saint Patrick

Once again Tuesday, the "wearers of the green" will predominate over the United States. The occasion is the annual celebration of St. Patrick's Day.

Mar. 17 has become a day observed with banquets and dances by Irish societies. The annual St. Patrick's Day parade down Fifth Avenue in New York City is a highlight of celebrations.

St. Patrick has a brief, but interesting, history to his becoming a patron saint of Ireland.

Patrick was carried off to Ireland by pirates about 405, and escaped after six years and fled to Gaul. He is credited with forming the idea of evangelizing Ireland. He died on Mar. 17, 493, at the age of 106.

When Patrick died, it is recorded that bishops, priests, and people gathered from all parts of Ireland to honor the father of their faith.

Now, for over 14 centuries, the same spirit of honoring the memory of Patrick has survived in the hearts of Irish men and Irish women in every part of the world. And still in 1953, the O'Malley's, Murphy's, Houlihan's and O'Toole's keep the "luck of the Irish" alive singing Irish songs, wearing four leaf clovers, and carrying sheiligh's. And the Irish temper and Irish brogue remain to honor the national hero of the Irish, St. Patrick.

OH!

She greeted her boy friend with, "Notice anything different about me?"

"New dress?"

"No."

"New shoes?"

"No. Something else."

"I give up."

"I'm wearing a gas mask."

Red Cross Unit Organizes

Omaha University's Red Cross unit held the first in a series of monthly meetings last night in the east cafeteria.

The 5:30 dinner meeting was attended by OU Red Cross representatives and representatives of all campus organizations. "The object of the meeting was to show the students what the Red Cross has to offer," said Chuck French, chairman of the meeting.

Also present were Mrs. Mary Padou Young, faculty adviser, and Mrs. Pleasant H. Elwood, Red Cross college adviser, who helped French answer questions which organizational representatives asked.

Reports Given

Heads of three committees — Veterans' Administration hospital, polio swimming, and the Blood Center — gave reports on what their committees had done and what they need for future work.

Jean Schmidt, polio swim chairman, said "we need volunteers for the new veterans' polio swim program to be held Wednesday and Friday afternoons at the Jewish Community Center."

Blood Center Help

Blood Center chairman Mary Richardson and Don Chase stressed the need for more workers at the Blood Center. Chase said a better donor file could be set up "if a group of girls would do phoning and filling every Monday night."

The VA hospital program was outlined by co-chairman Joan Olsen and Douglas Wright. Wright outlined the projects carried out at the hospital. He urged students who "would like to play cards, checkers or just want to go over and talk to the men" to sign up for special coffee hours on the first and third Saturdays of each month.

Weekly Broadcast

Plans are under way for a weekly radio broadcast on the hospital's radio station. The program would be arranged by OU students.

A talent show has been planned monthly for the veterans. On Feb. 28, 14 University students participated in a talent show.

FTA to Meet Next Thursday

The student lounge will be the scene of a dinner meeting next Thursday for Future Teachers of America. The 5:30 to 7 p. m. meeting will feature a discussion of "The Need for FTA Organizations in the High Schools."

Students interested in joining FTA are urged to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Mabel Carlson, a member of the Omaha Education Association, will lead the discussion.

Music Magazine Holds Competition

The first nation-wide college dance-band contest is being sponsored by Metronome, music magazine. Any band composed entirely of college musicians is eligible to enter the contest.

Bands must send 78 RPM acetate recordings of at least two and not more than four different selections. Each group must have at least seven members.

Deadline for entries is March 15. Application blanks for the contest are in the Gateway office.

Pre-Med's Meet

The Pre-Med Club will meet next Wednesday in the Lounge for a general coffee hour. All students are invited to join in hearing the speaker for the day.

The speaker will be Mr. James Tollman, Dean of the Nebraska Medical School. Students are especially interested in the speech for this year. More OU students will possibly be admitted to the Med School than in any year in the past.

"Complete With Cold Water" "Hostel Travelers" Essay Winner To Gain Free Trip

The winning essay on the subject of "The Educational Values of Hosteling" will get a trip in the United States and Canada, all expense paid, or money toward a trip to Europe.

The Class I Division is open to all high school seniors and college students, teacher and others between 18 and 35 years of age. Two trip scholarships will be awarded in this category: Trip number one — the eight week transcontinental "Rolling Youth Hostel Trip" in the United States or Canada; or a $300 scholarship toward one of the 22 American Youth Hostel European trips. Trip number two — the eight week Mexican trip, or alternative six week trips to Nova Scotia or New England and Quebec; or $125 toward a European trip.

Essays 1,000 Words

The essays may be 1,000 words or less. Entries must be postmarked no later than Apr. 20. All contestants must be citizens of the U. S. A.

Travelers Travel!

Hosteling, which is travel "under your own steam" derives its name from overnight accommodations called "youth hostels." Members of the AYH travel light, carrying their gear in saddle bags or in knapsacks. They usually prepare their own meals. Since the overnight fees at hostels is 50 cents, their expenses for food and lodging in the summertime is between $1.50 and $2 a day.

"Hard Beds, Cold Water"

The rules and regulations state "To qualify for an AYH trip you must be ready to spend your summer travelling simply, living ruggedly, (hard beds, cold water, strenuous exercise) and willing to do your part to make the trip successful. You must be able to bicycle 30 miles a day or hike 12 miles a day with full equipment."

Students interested may find more information in the Gateway office.

Sociology Fraternity Takes Five Members

Five students will be initiated Thursday, March 26, in Alpha Kappa Delta. Dr. T. Earl Sullenger announced this week. AKD is the national honorary sociology fraternity.

New members are Lois Elet, Warren Dennerberg, Jack Fraenkel, Mary Lea Marshall and Frank Menolascino, a graduate student.

Dr. Sullenger emphasized the difficulty of getting into the fraternity which requires a B average in all university work. Dr. Sullenger is national president of the fraternity which numbers 70 chapters in the United States.

Dr. Lawrence H. Brown, professor of sociology at Creighton University, will be speaker at the initiation ceremony. Dr. Brown has spent six years in Europe and is a lieutenant colonel in the Army reserve.

"End in Sight" Claims Tomahawker Boersma

"We're almost finished," said Larry Boersma, editor of the 1953 Tomahawk. "Our deadline is Sunday, and we mak make it."

The staff missed their 75 percent deadline a few weeks ago, but late working hours, and overtime have caught them up.

The yearbook will have an index this year. Assistant to the editor, Burt McMillan, is in charge of the listings of each student who appears in the book. After the student's name will be the numbers of the pages on which his picture appears.

"This will be extremely helpful, especially in locating old friends in about ten years," asserted McMillan.

The first proofs of the '53 annual were to be received this week. The Tomahawk editor is hoping for a May 11 distribution date.

1954 Tomahawk Editor Dan Langevin is already gathering pictures for his book. The '54 editor is getting an early start on the annual under the seasoned guidance of Boersma.

Woods Slates Job Interviews

J. P. O'Connor of Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., will be on the campus Thursday to interview prospective employees for Sylvania's Burlington, Iowa, plant. O'Connor, supervisor of personnel, is primarily interested in production trainees with degrees in Business Administration, Arts and Sciences and people with technical backgrounds. In a letter to Placement Director John E. Woods, O'Connor said, "Ultimately most of these men will end up in production supervisory capacities."

Women interested in a career with the Marines should meet with First Lt. Margart L. O'Neill Monday. Training will be at Quantico, Virginia.

Mr. Woods reports good results from the employer-student interviews. General Electric has offered three jobs to Omaha U. students. Firestone has offered two or three jobs and Goodyear has offered at least one. The average beginning pay for graduating seniors runs from a low of $250 to a high of $350.

Company brochures and interview blanks are available in the Placement Office, Room 274.

Publications Staff Gets Press Cards

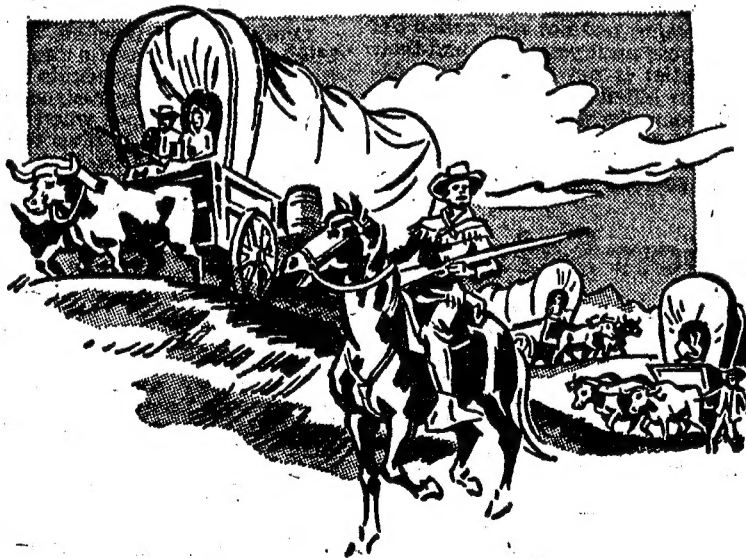

If someone waves a small card in front of you and says, "I'm from the press, what's new?" don't laugh; it's legal.

All students who are members of the Tomahawk and Gateway staffs received Press Cards last week.

Clifford Ellis, head of the journalism department, said that staff members will carry the cards as official identification when covering news affairs.

The cards are signed by Ellis and Dean of Student Personnel Jay B. MacGregor.

Indians Vie in First Meet Of Outdoor Track Season

The Indian trackmen opposed Nebraska Wesleyan, Wayne State Teachers' College and Midland yesterday in the first indoor meet of the season at the Fieldhouse.

The meet was held too late to include the scores in this issue, but the potentiality of all cindermen is apparent from recent preliminary meets. Many unrecognized men may still come to the top as the season progresses.

Omaha will face this year's opposition with more depth than last year and more speed in most events. Sprinters returning from last year are Joe Nalty, Jerry Tannahill and Bob Schropp. In the preliminary meet held Monday and Tuesday all showed condition and stamina.

Hold Sprint Relay

A creditable 1:17.5 sprint relay timing was turned in Tuesday afternoon by Bill Barnes, Bob Schropp, Joe Nalty and Bob Gerdeman. The boys generally agreed that they hope to better this mark throughout the season.

Another event that left the crowd gaping was the half mile run by Bernie Lainson in 2:14. This was the first 880 run by the boys this year and the time is significant of things to come.

Decker Wins Mile

Wayne Larsen won the 440 dash Tuesday in 53 seconds and, as expected, Mel Decker ran away from the pack to win the mile handily. Another well populated field is the hurdlers. Bob and Bill Barnes, Dick Westin and Bob Gerdeman will provide any team a close race in the 60 yard lows, and Roger Dunbier, La Rue Garrett, the Barnes twins and Westin should easily place in the highs.

Pole vaulters are vying for the space in the air left by Keith Christie, January graduate. They are Doug Alford, Rob Carlsen, Bert McKinney and Dick May.

One event which could use talent is the broadjump. Jerry Tannahill, versatile runner and jumper of last year, will be back, but the depth is only one deep.

Dunbier, Garrett Highjump

Highjumpers Roger Dunbier and La Rue Garrett are back for another year at clearing the bar, and the shotput circle is well occupied by Harry Johnson, Larry Johnson, Tom Forsel and Arnold Smith.

Nebraska Wesleyan, usually very rugged, were without the services of six of their lettermen. The six varsity members were participating in the N.A.I.A. basketball finals now in progress in Kansas City, and did not come up for the track meet yesterday.

The Plainsmen, like the rest of the teams, had not seen action yet this year until yesterday, and their potential is not known. Don Alley is billed as the leading shotput man, Jerry Rainforth as leader of the high jump, and Rod Washington as their main gun in the 60-yard dash.

Gorr Sets Up 'Mural Track'

Intramural Director Ernie Gorr has announced a new intramural indoor track meet schedule. All men at the University who have never received a varsity numeral in track are eligible to compete.

The schedule:

Monday, March 16
60-yard dash

60-yard low hurdles

60-yard high hurdles

Broad jump

Wednesday, March 18

440-yard dash

Mile run

High jump

Shotput

Sprint relay

Monday, March 23

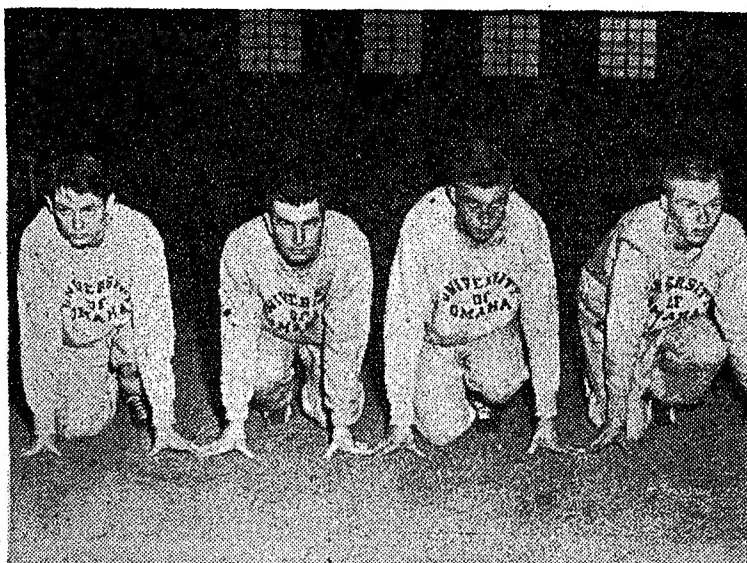

880-yard run

Pole vault

Mile relay

Some of the first-round games in table tennis have not been played yet. Gorr announced that all first-round games should be played as soon as possible or forfeits will be recorded. Those competitors who cannot play their games until later should contact Gorr to arrange for a date to play.

All boys interested in the Intramural Wrestling Meet should sign up in the athletic director's office no later than 4 p. m. Monday. If there are not many entries, the tourney will not be held.

Benson Wins Tourney Title

The always exciting District A High School Basketball Tournament came to a close Saturday night at the OU Fieldhouse with Benson dropping Boys Town, 48 to 43.

Benson paved its way to the finals by breezing by South, 46-35. They met North in the semifinals, and promptly knocked them from the tournament to the tune of 53-44. North had previously beaten Tech, 41-39.

Boys Town's trip to the finals did not come as easy. They beat the young Cathedral team. But Central High School had the Boys Town crew on their heels throughout the semi-final game, until the Cowboys shook loose during the last two minutes for a 42 to 35 victory. The Eagles had upset the Creighton Bluejays in the preliminary game.

So Benson and Boys Town are the Omaha representatives in the State District meet at Lincoln.

The finals will be played Saturday at 8 p. m.

Two Teams Tie In Bowl League

Lambda Chi bowlers, though idle last week, gained a first place tie with the Independents in the Intramural Bowling League. They reached the top spot when fourth place Sigma Phi Epsilon won all three games from ISA. Both teams, with 23-13 records, lead third place Pi Kappa Alpha by four games.

In other action, the Pi Kaps downed Theta Chi, 2-1, and Phi Epsilon tripped the ROTC, also by 2-1.

Pi K A continues to lead the other teams in the Interfraternity League. They own a one game margin over Lambda Chi. The Sig Ep team, which has been winning consistently of late, was climbed from the cellar to fifth place.

Sigma Kappa Takes Week's Bowling Titles

Sigma Kappa took high team game and high team series honors this week in Women's Intramural bowling with 556 points and 1,489 points, respectively.

Team standings remained the same with Chi Omega and Alpha Xi B changing positions in the league. Chi Omega moved to the fifth position, Alpha Xi B dropped to sixth.

Sigma Kappa's Jean Mathiasen won high individual game with 170 points and high individual series with 437 points.

Monday's competition saw Chi Omega win two out of three from Gamma Mu and Sigma Kappa take all three from Zeta. Alpha Xi A won two out of three from Independents, Kappa took all three from Chi O Owls and N.I.S.A. won all three games from Alpha Xi B.

Rifle Team Runs Hot, Cold in Encounters

Wrestlers Enter Midwest Tourney

Omaha University's outlook for a wrestling team could possibly depend on the outcome of four OU students entering the Midwest Junior National Wrestling Tournament later this month.

The boys entered so far are Ronnie Abboud, Don Digilio, Joe Radicia and Sub Salinitrio. All are graduates from Central High School, and each holds an individual championship. In order to enter the meet one must hold an individual championship.

It is supposed to be one of the biggest tournaments in the country. Ten top colleges are expected to enter the tourney. The days set for the meet are Mar. 20 and 21 at the YMCA.

It is an opportunity for the boys to prove that Omaha University can stand up against top notch competition.

Omaha University's ROTC rifle team cooled off Thursday afternoon against the South Omaha Packers and dropped a one-sided duel match on the Packers' home grounds.

The team had just finished a successful showing in Booneville, Mo., last week.

Gilbert Davis was the leading scorer for the ROTC. He managed to hit the target 369 out of a possible 400. But John Penfield from South Omaha topped Davis's score with a mark of 372 out of a possible 400.

Other Omaha University boys who fired were Darrell Cox, Jom Ryan, Jerry Welling, Bob Forrey, Sam Georges, Frank Sedlack and Fred McCormick. The team's only complaint was that the South Omaha range did not provide mats for the boys to fire from in prone position.

Frank Sedlack, who captains the Omaha University team, is still the high scorer on the squad.

Sergeant Swink said, "The team will meet the sharpshooters from Union Pacific this afternoon on the Omaha University Fieldhouse rifle range."

Omaha University's ROTC rifle team made a successful trip to Booneville, Mo., last week-end. The team competed in the Midwest Camp Perry Smallbore Rifle Tournament at Kemper Military Academy and wound up in third place.

The tournament is held each year for all Midwest high schools and colleges with an ROTC. A team can enter with basics or an advanced team. Omaha University entered with only an advanced team.

The following boys made the trip: Captain Frank Sedlack, Gil Davis, Darrell Cox, Bill Forrey, and Glenn Gowen. All members won an expert's individual medal except Cox. The whole team was given medals for their third place standing in the tourney.

Record-breaker Dunbier Sparks Season for OU Track Squad

By Don Digilio

Track season brings the talents of Roger Dunbier into the limelight. Roger graduated from Benson High School in 1951, and he stepped right into one of the star positions on Omaha University's track team.

In high school Dunbier was a standout in the high jump and high hurdles. In the high hurdles he won the District Championship and came in second in the city. He won the city and tied for the state title. All these championships came during his senior year.

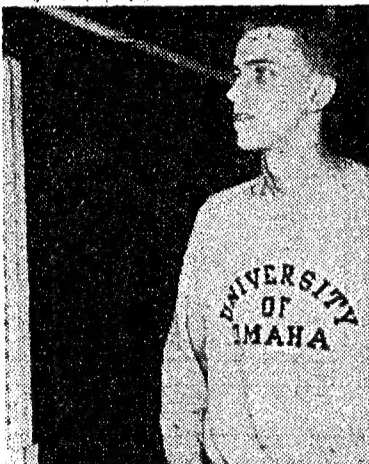

Roger also attempted to play basketball at Benson. He lettered his senior year and set some or Dick Westin. He also holds the indoor high jump record at 5 feet, 11 inches.

Dunbier stated that his most disappointing experience occurred during the Doane Relays last year. He was racing State Champion Chuck Cookson in the hurdles. He caught Cookson, and, as he passed him, he tripped over the hurdle.

Dunbier has three more years of track competition, so Omaha University's opponents will be seeing plenty of "Running Roger."

Roger carries a 3.9 average and he is majoring in government.

Dunbier . . . keeping an eye on his record.

sort of a Benson basketball record by scoring four points in four years.

During his freshman year, Roger was outstanding on the OU track squad. He led the team in total points with 99%. He set an individual scoring record by racking up 13 points in one meet. That is the normal amount it takes to earn a letter after a whole season of track.

Roger holds the indoor track record in the high hurdles, but he stated that he expects the record to be broken by Bill Barnes

OUWI Teams Tie In 'Mural Tourney'

The Chi Omegas and Unaffiliated basket ball teams are tied with three wins apiece in the Omaha University Women's Intramural basket ball tournament.

Next week teams will enter the fourth round of the tournament. Unaffiliated and Zeta Tau Alpha teams will play Tuesday, March 17. The Zetas will meet the Independents Thursday, March 19. Tournament games are played in the women's physical education hut.

The last open archery practice will be held in the west quonset this afternoon between 2 and 4 p. m.

Donna Smith, chairman of the archery tournament, announced that the tournament rounds will be March 16 from 2 to 4 p. m.; March 18 at 5:30 p. m., and March 20 from 2 to 4 p. m.

OU Varsity Tallies Best Record In Post-War Basketball History

By Dave Langevin

The Omaha University basketball team, which recently ended its season in the Nebraska playoff at Grand Island, turned in the best record ever compiled by a post-war Indian cage team. The 15-8 won-lost record bettered last year's 13-11 mark and the 13-10 total of the 1950-51 season. The home record of 11 wins and two losses is by far the most outstanding accomplished by an Omaha team.

The Papooses won 16 games and lost two during the season. They set a new Omaha Fieldhouse scoring mark of 101 points. Several of the players should play varsity ball next year.

The previous individual scoring record of 212 points was broken by three men. Prospects for a better season in 1953-54 are very good and the Fieldhouse attendance mark was broken when Creighton invaded the Omaha court on Feb. 14. It is easy to see that basketball is definitely on the upgrade at Omaha U.

Records Show Extremes

Actually, basketball fortunes have gone from one extreme to another during the past four years. In 1949-50, the Indian cagers suffered their worst season with a 4-19 showing. The next year, Coach Don Pflasterer directed them to their first winning season in the post-war period. They won 13 and lost 10. They won two games from Nebraska Wesleyan, one of Omaha's worst jinxes. The team won its last six games.

In 1951-52, the cagers turned in a 13-11 record. They won three games from mNebraska Wesleyan, two from a tough Peru team, and they split with perennially strong Washburn. They dropped two games to Creighton, a team they have never beaten since the war.

Bob Rose established a new Indian scoring mark, dropping in 212 points. The Indians qualified for the playoff for the right to represent Nebraska in the NAIA Tournament in Kansas City. They defeated Nebraska Wesleyan 68-65 in their opening game, but lost in the finals to Chadron, 71-67.

Virgil Yelkin was making his college basketball coaching debut with this year's squad. The regular baseball mentor, Yelkin had just finished serving one and a half years in the Armed Forces. Previously, however, he had coached basketball at South Sioux City, Norfolk, and Fremont High Schools. One of his teams at Fremont went to the state basketball tournament.

Claussen Sets Record

Claussen hung up the new individual scoring mark of 392 points. He was a scoring leader in many of the games. Don was a good rebounder and excellent floor man. His top scoring performances were 21 points in the first Creighton game, 29 against Wayne State Teachers' College and 35 against Morningside.

Shinrock, though hampered part of the time by a broken toe, found himself near the end of the year. A consistently good floor player, he tallied 21 points in the first Creighton tilt and hit 26 against Simpson College, of Indianola, Ia.

Rose, completing four years of dependable play at Omaha, led the team in free throw percentage. Bob was a defensive ballhawk and a fine team player. He also topped the scoring record, which he set last year as a junior.

Mackie, the smallest player on the team, was second only to Claussen in scoring. He was very shifty, and, with his assortment of set shots, jump shots, and driving lay-ups, was hard to keep from scoring. His top showings were a 26-point spree in the 89-80 loss to Creighton, a 23 pointer against Morningside and another 23 pointer in the season's finale with Chadron, which Omaha lost 74-61.

Moscrey was the long-shot artist of the team. He finished second to Rose in free throw percentage. A steady and dependable player, Bob's leading point performance came in the Sterling game which Omaha won 73-72. Bob sparked the winning surge in the final minutes and wound up with 15 points.

The Sterling game, by the way, was the closest game which the Indians won. They owned a big lead at halftime, but needed a last minute surge to win. Sterling is one of the smallest colleges in the U. S., having an enrollment of only 20 students.

The largest Indian margin of victory came at the expense of Doane. Omaha won 89-40.

Four members of the varsity are graduating this year and will not be back next year. They are Ralph Pettit, Larry Johnson, Don Fitch and Bob Rose. Rose was the only starter.

Yelkin Calls Meeting

All students interested in playing Varsity or B team baseball should report to the fieldhouse, physical education locker room at 3:45 March 16, announces Coach Virgil Yelkin.

An organization meeting will be held and plans for the coming season will be announced.

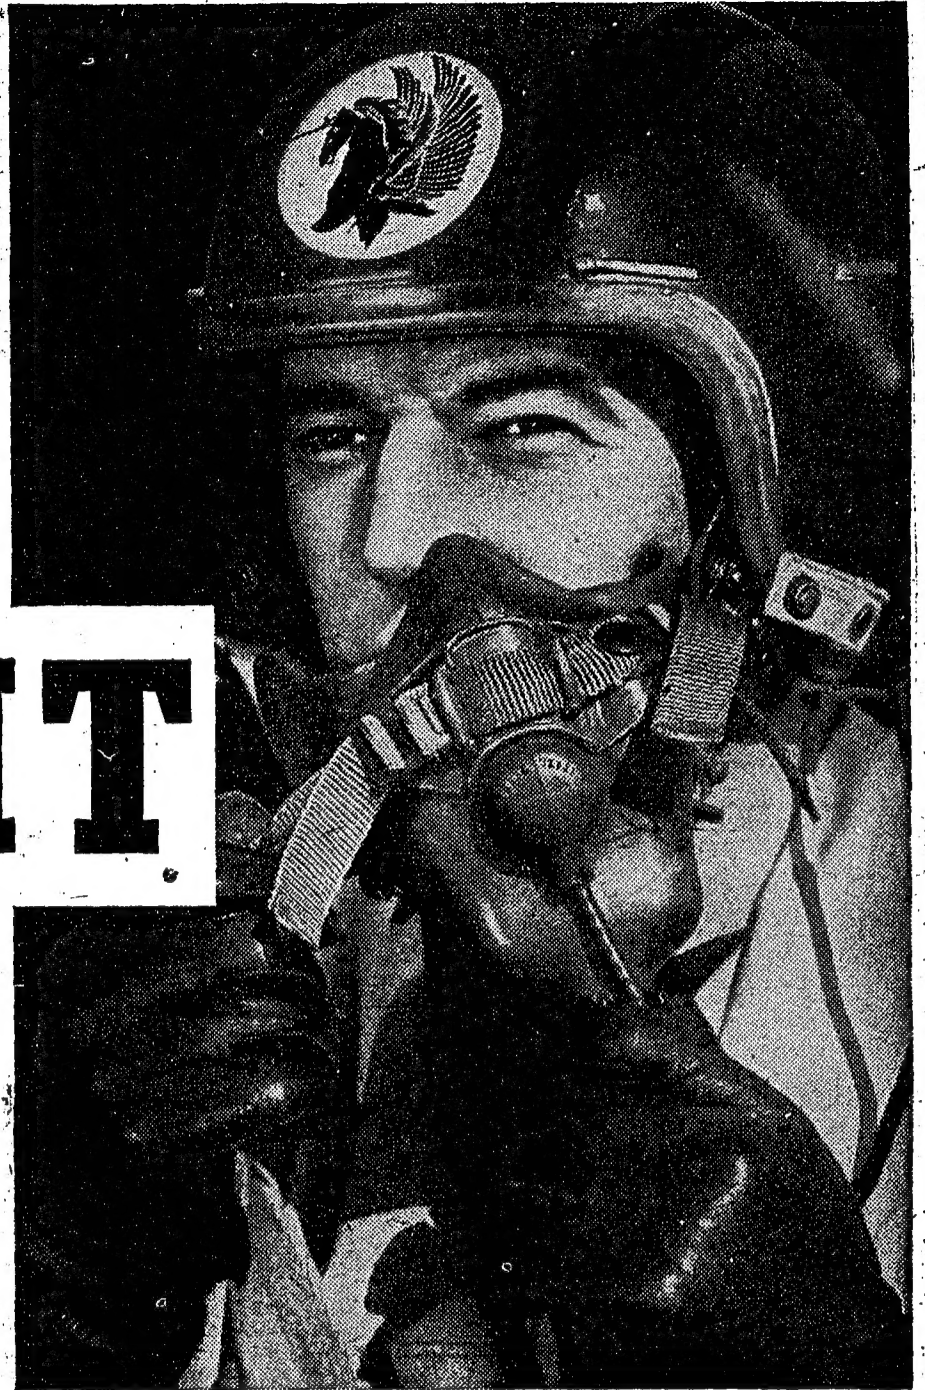

Coach Yelkin also stated that

"It is important that all those interested in the spring sport be at the meeting."

Premier

In Lowell, Mass., Lightweight Neil King, making his boxing debut recently, hopped nimbly into the ring, tossed off his robe, discovered he had forgotten his trunks.—Time.

It's the
FIGHT
man!

That's right! In the U. S. Air Force, it's not the size of the man in the fight—it's the size of the FIGHT IN THE MAN! And Aviation Cadets must have plenty of it. For Cadet training is rugged. If you're good enough . . . tough enough . . . smart enough . . . if you can take it while you're learning to dish it out, you can have one of the most fascinating careers in the world. You'll be equipped to fly the latest, hottest planes. You'll be prepared to take your position as an executive, both in military and commercial aviation as well as in industry. And while you're helping yourself you'll be helping your country.

WIN YOUR WINGS! It takes little over a year to win your wings as a Pilot or Aircraft Observer (Navigator, Bombardier, Radar Operator or Aircraft Performance Engineer). But at the end of your training you graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE? To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate. In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will give you a physical examination.
3. Next, you take a written and manual aptitude test.

4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet training class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

WHERE TO GET MORE DETAILS:

Visit your nearest Air Force Base, Air Force Recruiting Office, or your nearest Air Force ROTC unit. Or write to: Aviation Cadet Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

Special Train To Carry OU Delegates

Alpha Xi Delta elected Joan Willey as delegate to the sorority's national convention at their meeting last week. Elected as an alternate was Helen Howell.

Because of the cancellation of the national convention two years ago, the chapter has sufficient funds to send two chapter members to the convention. Though one is listed as delegate and one as alternate, both will represent the Omaha chapter and benefit the group in the next two years. Both will be juniors next year.

The convention will be held this year at the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena, California. The two girls will have all of their expenses paid both ways. They will board a special Alpha Xi delegate train starting from Chicago on July 3. They will be given a conducted tour on the route at Salt Lake City, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Other elections included the election of Joyce Miller as Junior Prom candidate. Joan Palladino was elected to serve as the sorority's representative to the Red Cross.

Committees were appointed for the Founder's Day banquet to be held at the Omaha Country Club on Apr. 17. Several girls were asked to help the alums plan the banquet.

Plans were discussed for Greek Help Week and the girls were asked to make reservations for the Greek banquet.

The president appointed Janet Anderson, Gayle Fried and Kathy Johnson to the nomination committee. Election of officers will be held Mar. 25. Installation will be held after the Founder's Day banquet.

Shipwreck Party Held Last Week

A shipwreck party last weekend highlighted the Sig Ep calendar. The party was held at the Rome Hotel Saturday night from 8 p. m. to midnight.

Dress for the evening was in an island theme with girls wearing grass skirts and the fellows clad as if they were just found on a desert island. Prizes for the most original costume, the skimpy and the best male costume were awarded.

The winner of the most original was Joan Benson. Dressed in the skimpy outfit was Frances Searcey. The best male costume was worn by John Haury, who came dressed in tux coat, lacking the pants.

Chairman of the party was Bob Peck. He was assisted by Fred Shinrock and Gordon Morphew.

Juniors To Reveal Prom Queen Apr. 1

Candidates for Junior Prom Queen of Omaha University were announced this week by the Dean of Students office. The all-school election of the Junior Prom Queen will be Mar. 25.

Candidates are Phyllis Wilke, Chi Omega; Joan Pierce, Sigma Kappa; Joyce Miller, Alpha Xi Delta; Derelle Blumer, Zeta Tau Alpha; Joyce Sundsboe, Independents.

The 1953 Junior Prom Queen will be presented at the intermission of the Junior Prom. The all-school dance will be Wednesday, Apr. 1, from 9 p. m. to midnight in the Peony Park ballroom. Eddy Haddad and his orchestra will play for the dance.

Jane Engelhardt and Bob Shropp are in charge of general arrangements for the dance. Phyllis Wilke and Marilyn Fratt are chairmen of the decorations committee. Larry Brehm and Derelle Blumer are planning the intermission ceremony. Duane Post, president of the junior class, is head chairman of the dance plans.

Sigas Will Party With Lambda Chi

The Sigma Kappas will have a party with Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity tomorrow night. Barbara Pugh is in charge of arrangements for the party.

The members are now arranging plans for their annual dinner-dance, April 11. Miss Pugh and Dorothy Ehlers are chairmen.

Anne Pane is Sigma Kappa's float chairman for the annual Ma-ie Day festivities, May 8. Taking charge of the skit for the group are Jodie Pierce and Edwina Hokanson.

Pat Summers will represent the sorority at the Red Cross College activities banquet. Pat Johansson, president, announced that new officers will be elected in April and will be installed in May.

Jodie Pierce is Sigma Kappa's candidate for Junior Prom Queen.

Five women pledged the sorority at ceremonies held at Donna Hayes home Mar. 1. A luncheon followed the pledging.

Business Group Holds Smoker

An informal smoker will be held by Delta Sigma Pi Tuesday. The business fraternity is open to all University men who are interested in Business Administration. The meeting will be held in the Student Center at 7:30 p. m.

At the last meeting of the Delta Sig's election of officers was held. The new officers are Turner Tefft, president; Bob Wolfe, first vice-president; Bob Chizum, second vice-president; Bob Benecke, secretary; Angelo Amato, treasurer; Richard A. Peterson, historian; and Claus Heyden, chancellor.

Delta Sig's are completing plans for their annual "Rose of Delta Sig" Dance to be held Mar. 28 at the Fontenelle Hotel.

Eddy Howard's Orchestra To Play for Military Ball

Pictured above is Eddy Howard, who with his orchestra will play for the Omaha University Air Force ROTC Military Ball on April 24. The Ball will be held at Peony Park.

One of America's foremost band leaders has been engaged to play at the Air Force ROTC Military Ball on Apr. 24. He is Eddy Howard, the man who made "To Each His Own" a hit parade favorite for many months.

The band contracts were signed last week and the announcement of the band was made this week by Burt McMillan, public relations officer of the Arnold Air Society.

Second Ball

The Ball, to be held at Peony Park, is the second Military Ball since the Air Force program was begun last year. The highlight of the Ball will be the presentation of the honorary officers chosen from the Angels' Flight at the University.

Honorary Officers Selected

Twenty girls were selected by a nomination vote two weeks ago. They will be introduced at a tea dance given by the Arnold Society Wednesday. The dance will be for Arnold Society members and Angels. It will be held from 4 to 6 p. m. in the auditorium.

Third Vote Later

Another vote will be taken after the introduction of the candidates and the six top girls will be the honorary officers. These girls will be voted upon again by Arnold Society members early in April and the results of this election will determine the rank of the new officers. Their names and ranks will be revealed at the Ball. The 1952-53 honorary Colonel was Marilyn Sibert.

The Military Ball will be held from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. Dress for the dance will be semi-formal. Tickets will go on sale in two weeks for the dance at $3.50 a couple. Tickets may be purchased from cadet officers of the ROTC.

Diehl, McTaggart To Organize Zeta Float, Skit Plans

Derelle Blumer will represent Zeta Tau Alpha for the Junior Prom Queen title at the Junior Prom semi-formal dance, Apr. 1. She was elected by sorority members at the ZTA meeting last week.

Paula Diehl is Ma-ie Day float chairman and Ann McTaggart was selected skit chairman. The group is beginning work on Ma-ie Day float and skit plans. The sorority won first place in the Ma-ie Day parade last year with their theme centering around a huge crepe paper butterfly.

Miss Marjorie Reid, traveling secretary, will inspect the Omaha U. chapter next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Chi O's Plan Handicapped Children's Party, Eleusinian

Twenty-three new officers of Chi Omega were installed Wednesday night. Joanne Larkin, now past president, presided at the installation.

Marilyn Raupe announced that the party for the handicapped children will be Wednesday night at Riverview Park Pavilion. The sorority members are to be at the pavilion at 6:30 p. m. A magician will help entertain the children. There will also be games and singing. Refreshments will be served.

Plans for Eleusinian

Tentative plans were made for the spring Eleusinian celebration Mar. 27 in Lincoln. The Omaha Chi Omega actives and alumnae will travel to Kappa Chapter at Nebraska U. for the joint observance. Mrs. Christine Hogan, former national officer, will speak.

Chi Omegas elected Phyllis Wilke as their candidate for Junior Prom Queen. Miss Wilke is also chairman of decorations for the annual Junior dance to be held Apr. 1.

Ma-ie Day Chairmen

Marilyn Summers and Donna Reynolds will be co-chairmen of Chi Omega's Ma-ie Day float. Heading the skit committee for the holiday activity are Rae Johnson and Joan Haven.

Joan Haven reported on the final arrangements for the all-Greek "Shamrock Shuffle" scheduled for tonight at the Fontenelle Hotel. Del Clayton and his orchestra will play for the fourth annual St. Patrick's Day dance. All Chi O's will wear white carnations.

Luann Focht collected $2 for Greek Week banquet tickets.

Greek Week Committees

Rusty Smith will represent Chi Omega at the Greek Week Help Week committee meetings on Friday afternoons. Sharon Winner and Connie Jacobsen will help Donna Edstrand in setting up Greek Week exhibits for the windows.

The Chi O's will have a party with the Lambda Chi Alpha's Mar. 22.

Easter Bonnets This Year To Be Small and Decorative

"In the spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love." But what do women think about in the spring? Well, nine out of ten of them are thinking about a new Easter bonnet. Easter Sunday is on the fifth of April, so that leaves less than a month to find a new hat.

Of course you want to be if style, so what should you look for in the hat shops? First rule for hat buying this year is to make it small. Big hats are suited to some people and some ensembles, but the conventional hat for easy wearing is the small hat.

Trimmed or Not

Now, do you want a trimmed or untrimmed bonnet? Well, taking it from an authority, Lilly Dache, you want a small hat with a lot of trimming on it. This trimming may be in the form of feathers, sweeping veils, flowers, sequins, ribbons or jewels. Of course a Lilly Dache original isn't suited to every Omaha gal and few could afford them. But in the downtown hat shops you can find many hats, possibly not originals, but hats well-suited to you.

How to Wear

Now where to wear this new

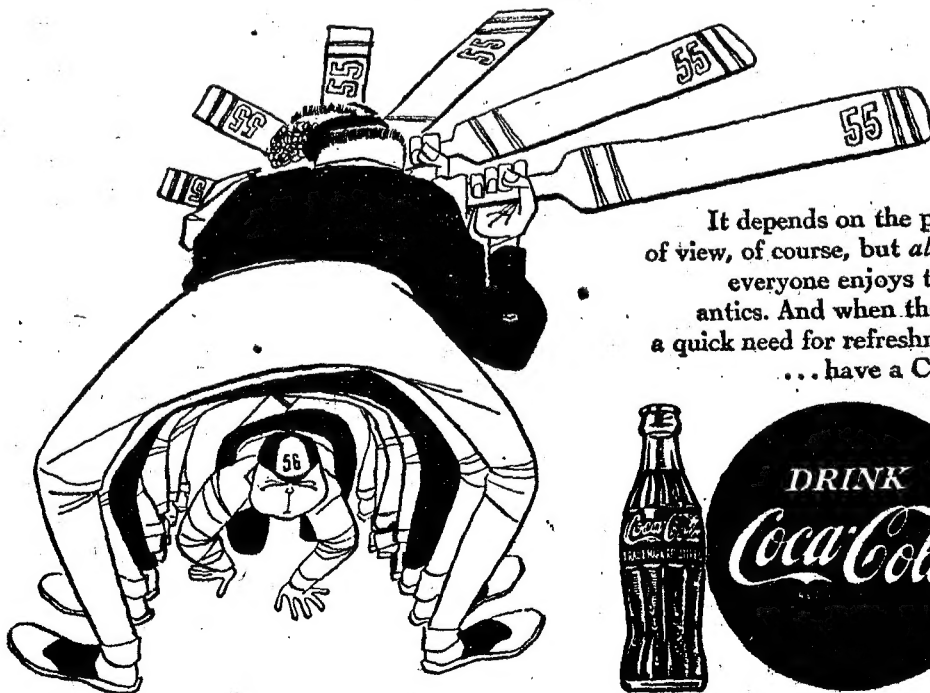

'53 chapeau? That seems a silly question, for where else would you wear a hat but on your head. But it's not as silly as you think. One year the style calls for hats to be worn down on the face, half covering the eyes. The next year, they're wearing them on the back of the head, hugging the neckline. This year it is suggested that hats should be worn on the crown of the head, the spot where men get bald. One hat pin should hold it on.

The Material

What material should you look for? Easy problem to solve. You'll never go wrong with a spring straw to match your ensemble. But if you want to stray away from convention for once, why not try on some of the springy looking lace hats being shown this year. There are many fabric hats too but one of the sleek materials this year is the glazed cotton that has that polished look.

Any piece of headgear you buy will have the trends of '53, so even if you can't afford a whole new ensemble, get yourself an "Easter bonnet with all the frills upon it," and you'll feel like the grandest lady in the Easter parade.

Informal Shamrock Shuffle To Be Held At Fontenelle

It will be the "Wearin' of the Green" tonight when Zeta Delta chapter of Chi Omega sorority presents its fourth annual Shamrock Shuffle. The all-Greek dance will be from 9 p. m. to midnight in the ballroom of the Fontenelle hotel. The Chi O's would like to see a little green on all Greeks attending the dance.

Del Clayton and his orchestra will play for the bobby-sock dance. Sweaters, skirts, and slacks may be worn.

Co-chairmen of the dance are Joan Haven and Virginia Niederluecke. The Chi Omegas will wear white carnations.

Petty Ellsworth is chairman of the skit committee. The skit will reveal the "Legend of the Shamrock." In the skit will be Mardell Squire, Luann Focht, Marilyn Raupe, Jerree Downs, Virginia Maxwell, and Sharon Winner.

Bonnie Coleman is chairman of the decorations committee. Committee members are Lois Allard, Barbara Zimmerman, Carolyn Chapman, Beverly Pace, and Janet Hansen.

Jo Thorson, publicity chairman, announced that the traditional door prize will be given.

Sponsors who will attend the dance are Miss Mildred Hollingsworth, Miss Margaret Killian, Mrs. John Adams, and Mrs. John Gustafson.

Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs.

Panhell Rules Out New Pledge Skip

The Panhellenic Council ruled out "skipping" for the second semester pledges of the sororities. The pledges will skip with fall pledge classes if they wish.

The success of Open Bidding was discussed. The Council decided to leave it to the discretion of next year's Panhellenic Council officers as to whether Open Bidding will be held next year. Those women who were not contacted in the Open Bid season are eligible for rushing in the fall.

Jean Salladay announced that the committee in charge of the Lily Day Parade for crippled children needed 50 OU coeds to help Mar. 28. The volunteer workers may help either in the morning or the afternoon. The shifts will be from 8:30 a. m. to noon, and from 12:30 to 4 p. m.

Miss Salladay said that Greek Cards will be distributed this week.

Sorority Pledges

Phi Theta Chi, women's business sorority, pledged eight new members Mar. 6, at the University.

Pledges are Marie Strenger, Mary Ann Bighia, Elaine Brailey, Nancy Schenck, Barbara Keisling, Barbara Meyer, Nancy Reeves, and Frances Babbel.

A dinner was held after the pledging ceremony at the Old English Inn. Myra French was elected Red Cross representative for the group.

Maggie Claeson, president of Phi Theta Chi, announced that new officers will be elected at a late March meeting.

Correction, Please

Iven Thomas, past manager of the OU Bookstore, challenged present manager Ben Koenig's statement that the cubic foot cost of books was $9.35.

Koenig's estimate appeared in a "Gateway" story called "The Bookstore Relaxer."

Thomas states that the average cost is nearer $32.

Slipped Her Mind

A coed at Drake University, Iowa, rushed into a Spanish class a few minutes late, threw off her coat and started to sit down. Students began to chuckle. The coed looked down hurriedly, then quickly threw her coat around her again and ran out.

Phi Ep's Plan Greek Dance

"Town and Country" will be the theme of the Phi Ep's all-Greek dance on Apr. 2 at Peony Park.

Art Randall and his orchestra will play for the strictly informal dance. The evening will feature old-time squire dancing, a fiddler, and a dance caller.

Maynard Tatelman, dance chairman said that the intermission program will carry out the theme of the dance. Dancing will be both regular ballroom style and the "country" type.

At their last meeting Phi Ep's made plans for an evening of bowling, roller skating and a house party to end the evening.

Other business included discussing float plans for Maie Day. Norm Goldenberg is chairman.

Two members, Marty Nearensberg and Maynard Tatelman will spend spring vacation attending the Regional Phi Ep Conclave. Host chapter this year is the Alpha Delta chapter at the University of Minnesota.

Dinner, Dance Highlight Help Week Program

Planning committees for the Greek Week banquet and dance are finishing their preparations before Greek Week Help Week which will begin Monday.

Francis S. VanDerbur, chairman of national Greek Week observances will be the guest speaker at the banquet. The banquet will be given in the University auditorium from 7 to 9 p. m. Friday, Mar. 20.

A humorous skit and dancing will highlight the all-Greek dance which will conclude the Greek Week observance. The dance will be at the Livestock Exchange ballroom Saturday, Mar. 21, from 9 p. m. to midnight.

"Greeks of Today Are Leaders of Tomorrow" is the theme of the banquet. Scholarship awards will be presented to actives and pledges of the sororities and fraternities after the dinner. Athletic awards will be given to winners of the inter-fraternity tournaments. Members of the Inter-Fraternity Council will receive recognition keys. Gene Anderson, Pi Kappa Alpha, will present an award to the outstanding pledge.

Patsy Cahow, banquet chairman, announced that the $2 dinner tickets can be purchased from the presidents of the Greek organizations. Swiss steak and fish will be the meat choices.

Alpha Xi Rose Formal Held At Blackstone Hotel

Candles and pink roses decorated the Blackstone Hotel ballroom for the Alpha Xi Rose Formal last Friday.

'Flapper' Party To Be At Brewster

Members of Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity will bring back the "roaring twenties" at their "Flapper" party tomorrow night. The party will be held at Inspiration Lodge at Camp Brewster from 8 p. m. to midnight.

Pi Kaps and their dates will attend the party in costumes from the 'twenties.' Pledges of the fraternity will dress as waiters. The lodge will be decorated as the interior of a night club of that time.

There will be a Charleston contest and costume contest for couples. Active members of Pi Kappa will end their beard growing season. The Pi Kap with the longest beard will receive a prize.

Music for the first half of the evening will be recorded swing music of 1920. Dancing during the last half of the evening will be modern.

Sponsors who will attend the party are Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Maxwell, Col. and Mrs. A. H. Woods, and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Doss.

The Rose Formal is an annual affair with Alpha Xi's all over the country. The dinner-dance started at 7 p. m. with a chicken dinner. Dates of the girls found white carnation boutonnieres at their places at the dinner.

Meanest and Sweetest Honored After dinner entertainment consisted of the presentation of the meanest and sweetest actives and pledges. Entertainment chairman Marilyn Johnson presented the meanest and sweetest actives, Barbara Magnuson and Jackie Morgan. The meanest and sweetest pledges from last semester's class were Beth Van Brunt and Joan Palladino. These girls were given gifts of stuffed animals.

Other entertainment included some impersonations by Joan Gross, chapter alum.

Dancing to Gary Penisten and his orchestra began at 9 p. m. and ended at midnight.

Chairman of the dance was Syntha Judd. Assisting her were Janet Simonson, Barbara Day, Marilyn Johnson, Marlene Hoffman and Nancy Weymiller.

Alumnae members of the chapter were guests at the banquet. Sponsors for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hampton and Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Wardle.

TASTE BETTER!
Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

Ask yourself this question: Why do I smoke?
You know, yourself, you smoke for enjoyment.
And you get enjoyment only from the taste of a cigarette.

Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother!
Why? Luckies are made better to taste better. And, what's more, Luckies are made of fine tobacco.

COLLEGE STUDENTS PREFER LUCKIES IN NATION-WIDE SURVEY!

Nation-wide survey based on actual student interviews in 80 leading colleges reveals more smokers prefer Luckies than any other cigarette by a wide margin. No. 1 reason—Luckies' better taste. Survey also shows Lucky Strike gained far more smokers in these colleges than the nation's two other principal brands combined.

Ma-ie Day Chairman Travelling Saleslady

Syntha Judd, no relation to Winnie Ruth, the axe murderer, will be one of the busiest persons on campus from now until Ma-ie Day. She has been named overall chairman for the holiday as one of her Student Council duties. A Senior representative, Syntha serves on the traffic appeal board, and is election chairman.

The Secretary-Treasurer of the senior class has had three and one-half years packed full of activities at OU. She is a member of Gamma Pi Sigma, honorary chemistry society, Home Ec Club, and University Players. Syn played in the Tom-Tom Review and "Goodby, My Fancy."

False Tooth

Syntha doesn't rate herself much of an athlete saying that she can, "dance, swim, play tennis, and watch football, but none very well. Could you call playing the uke a sport?" Syntha is a good sport in the other sense of the word as evidenced by the way she takes kidding about Orville and Oscar, her changeable false tooth. Syn got them after an accident last year when "a parked car jumped out and hit me." She had to attend two dances, a tea, a banquet, give a speech, and have two pictures taken in her toothless state.

Syn's major is Home Economics with a minor in Business. She plans to "do something in the home ec field" when she graduates.

Active Greek

Syntha is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority and believes that sororities "help to bring out leadership qualities, and promote interest in school activities." She has acted as treasurer of her pledge class, rush chairman, president, and is at present social chairman for the group. She was the sorority's successful candidate for Theta Chi Dream Girl this February. She was pictured on the cover of "The Alpha Xi Delta," a national magazine, and has acted as a delegate to the Province convention.

Flying Angel

A charter member of Angels Flight, Syn served as the first Flight Leader. She is head of the Constitution committee. Syntha has flown to Washington, British Columbia, California, and Washington, D. C.

Syntha Judd . . . Travel, activities, studies keep her busy.

In connection with her passion for the uke, Syn is a Charleston fan. She is an accomplished dancer having taken 13 years of ballet, five years of tap, and three years of toe, some running concurrently. Syntha says that, "I'll always be proud to say I'm an alum of OU." . . . Pat.

Everyone's Lookin'

OU has done its part the past week to make secretary's "the lookingest" group of people at the school.

At the Secretarial Seminars held in conjunction with the University's Vocations Weeks, experts in the field discussed "The Secretary Looks at the Employer," and then the employer looked back at the secretary entitled "The Employer Looks at the Secretary." After the employer looked, the third seminar was "The Secretary Speaks."

What the secretary said and what the employer and secretary saw in each other, only those attending the seminars will ever know.

OU Organizes Student Band

Strike up the Band!

Omaha University now has a student dance band available for school activities. The band was organized about the middle of January under the leadership of Jack Irwin. Rehearsals are now held once a week, usually on Thursday afternoons, in the band-room.

The band is a non-profit organization designed to provide an opportunity for students interested in playing and to also have a band available for school functions.

New sheet music is the only payment which the band receives. The music is purchased from a fund set up by the Student Council. The Council collects for the fund from the organization sponsoring the dance.

The band played its first dance in February. It also played for the Student Council dance last Wednesday in the auditorium. On Wednesday, Mar. 25, the band will play at an Arnold Air Society tea dance in the auditorium.

Those students interested in playing in the band or hiring the band for a dance should contact Dr. Robert Fiester or Irwin.

Present members of the band are Don Chase, Jerry Hirsh, Jack Kosmacek, Louis Harnes, and Dick Jenkins, saxophones; Bob Dain, Lloyd Jacobson, Harlande Lantz and Jim Lore, trumpets; Steve Schwid, Ken Olson, Ves Mallory and LaRue Garrett, trombones; Bob Edson, Dean Short, Bob Kidd and Wayne Wagner, percussion. Ruth Capps, former OU student, is vocalist for the band.

Dance Mar. 25

The Student Council announced that the next afternoon all-school dance will be held Mar. 25 in the auditorium. The dance will be held from 4 to 6 p. m. Chairman is Pat Cosford.

Jack Irwin's band will play for the second dance sponsored by the Council.

Wednesday the Council sponsored another Prexy Party. Presidents of all campus organizations were present to discuss problems on campus. Jack Katz was leader of the discussion.

Magic Man Makes Myriad Mysteries

By Dick Reimund

A table groans under its load, shining equipment gleams as it waits in readiness and a group of people lean forward in expectation. All is quiet as J. G. McMillan, physics instructor, walks toward the table. He surveys his equipment, and starts to work. The audience watches in awe. It's a success!

Did McMillan illustrate a new scientific principle? Did he invent the first atomic pencil sharpener? No, but the rabbit came out of the hat in fine style!

Magic Tricks

That's right, Omaha University's physics professor is also a magician. Rare is the man who can teach atomic or atmospheric and perform levitations and rope tricks with equal dexterity, but such a man is J. G. McMillan.

Professor McMillan became interested in magic when he saw the great Thurston perform on the stage at the Orpheum theatre many years ago. After watching his famous rising card trick and similar seemingly impossible feats, McMillan developed an interest he has kept through the years.

Trick the Experts

At present, McMillan is a member of the Omaha Magical Society, a group of men of all races and creeds who meet to promote interest in magic and perfect new tricks. The minutes of the meetings are kept short so that more time can be devoted to the tricks, and the ambition of all the members is to perfect a trick that stumps the other members for at least one meeting. This, says McMillan, is a good trick in itself!

McMillan has given several magic shows here in Omaha, and was master of ceremonies at the society's Christmas party last year.

Magic Definition

When asked what magic is, McMillan gave the following definition, along with several examples. Magic, says McMillan, is the supposed breaking of physical laws.

For example, the law of the impenetrability of matter is apparently broken in the linking ring and guillotine tricks. Two solid rings are joined and separated in the ring trick, and in the guillotine trick a carrot is put in a slot, a blade is dropped and the carrot chopped in half. Next, the magician sticks his finger in the same hole, drops the blade, and nothing happens.

Defy Gravity

Levitation and the Hindu rope trick are based on their apparent defiance of the laws of gravity. In the Hindu rope trick, a rope uncurls itself and climbs into the air. It stays there while a boy climbs up the rope. The audience is awed as they hunt for the sky hook. There are as many examples as there are tricks.

In the middle ages, before scientific laws were known, a magician was considered to be a real sorcerer. When people became familiar with scientific principles, mirrors were used extensively, until finally the term "it's all done with mirrors" became a standard expression for doubt.

Trick Illustration

Professor McMillan occasionally uses a trick in class to illustrate a point.

The magician's worst competitor, says McMillan, is science. Not that people see through the tricks, but it's just that science has performed such miracles in the last 40 years that people have become over credulous and accept almost anything as possible, which ruins the tricks. We can perform to an audience that says, "O. K., you did it, so what?"

In order to stay in the entertainment field, the magicians are working hard to keep from being outperformed by the laboratories.

Still, when I view a table loaded with equipment, when I see a man in evening dress and a cape approach with a wand, I still wait with the old enthusiasm. Science or no science, I still want to know, how did that rabbit get in the empty hat?
